This pattern was created as a perfect foundation to compliment Lee Jofa's 200 year celebration textiles. Finely hand knotted using a traditional Bhutami weaving technique, these hand spun man-made yarns are defined by rich shading and subtle texture. With performance in mind, they are pressure-dyed at high temperatures allowing an optimal level of color diffusion. The sheared pile offers durability along with fade resistance for lasting color with the nuances of abash and high luster embodying both quality and luxury.

This rug's construction and fibers provide performance characteristics including longevity, retention, colorfastness and silk-like soft texture. It is non-allergenic, has a tolerance for water, moisture and is naturally resistant to staining, fading, mold, mildew, abrasion and sunlight. However, like all materials; performance fibers, although strong, may be susceptible to acidic materials such as urine, bleach, iodine, ink, food dyes and may stain if not attended to quickly. Follow recommendations should this occur.

Carpet is not guaranteed to match photographic representation.
