LAUREL ARMCHAIR

Rattan is durable, elegant, and strong. Good wickerwork always demonstrates these characteristics, and our Laurel Armchair also incorporates a variety of cheerful and charming elements, including a scalloped apron over the legs, a rolled leg rest, and rolled arms all with rippled, reed caps. Works equally well as an occasional chair in a conversation group or pulled up to a table.

DIMENSIONS

58" W x 24" D x 30" H

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Natural rattan is suitable for use indoors or on a covered loggia, porch, or veranda.

The Treillage rattan collection celebrates the ancient art of wickerwork, which has been practiced for thousands of years. Ancient Egyptians made chairs of natural rush, while craftspeople in China and India worked with cane; medieval Europeans often utilized willow, and later mimicked the caning techniques of China. The Arts & Crafts movement celebrated the handmade qualities of these furniture traditions, from which time wickerwork has remained a casual and stylish addition to any interior. Our collection uses the natural fibers of the rattan palm: graceful, minimal frames are contrasted with a variety of decorative wicker artistry.
