

PHEASANT FEATHER GARDEN STOOL - BLUE

We've taken our best-selling pheasant feather glaze and applied it to our new barrel-form garden stool. A perfect way to bring this favorite glaze into your home.

This stool's one-of-a-kind glaze takes inspiration from traditional sancai or tri-colored glazes. Since sancai glazes were prone to running during the firing process, colors often mix together to create an effect similar to the one achieved here. The unpredictable nature of sancai glazes ensures that while the overall effect can be consistent, no two pieces are exactly the same. This is an ethos that we embrace by working with artisans who still practice traditional glazing techniques. Due to natural reactions within the kiln, the amount of blue and cream tones in the

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Due to the handcrafted nature of each ceramic stool and natural reactions within the kiln, no two forms or glazes are exactly alike. Each is a unique work, and slight variations in size and glaze from piece to piece are expected and embraced. We do our best to make sure that multiple stools in a single order are as similar as possible.
